

I believe the law should not be changed. The law is working fine for the consumer. The only people that are complaining are the people that are soliciting calls.